Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 01 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells before turning cold and unsettled on Sunday.

Today:
Any early patchy cloud soon clears through the morning to leave a dry day with plenty of sunny spells. Breezy, particularly near the south coast. Feeling warm. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
A dry night with plenty of clear skies, and with light winds continuing to the south coasts. Feeling chilly, with potential frosts in sheltered areas inland. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Friday:
A dry day with of clear skies means plenty of sunshine. Temperatures return back to average, however, it may feel chilly in the breeze. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Bright and fine Saturday, with overnight frost and fog. Staying bright Sunday, but turning unsettled into the night and Monday as cold temperatures and showers move in, wintry at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.